My Best Work

At the beginning of the course the professor informed us that at the end we should choose our best work. This made me put all my effort into doing my work in class. Among the work done were the four units of the book worked on in class (5-8) and the final project. However, although I liked some of the units, I consider that my best work was the final project that I did with my classmates Mirelys Díaz and D'yadira Rodríguez, being more specific the essay.

I consider this my best work because in the process I was able to learn about new topics and use my imagination to put these topics into practice. The realization of this project was full of imagination since we had to create a new country. At the beginning it was difficult to start the rehearsal because I could not find a way to write all my ideas on paper, as they came spontaneously. It was a job I enjoyed as it was easy to connect and agree with my colleagues as we had great ideas. I had to write the introduction and the first paragraph of the essay. In these we talk about the SDGs and the country created. Also, this assignment helped me to work in a group since I usually prefer to do my work individually. That's why my best work is the final project essay.
